Champion Mines to Reopen

RUBY MINE

The Ruby mine near Downieville that is managed jointly by Sierra Pacific Gold, Ltd., and the Smuggler Mining company, is installing necessary equipment to handle 100 yards of gravel a day. Engineers are now installing a new washing plant. Tests all over the mine show a value of about $6 a yard.

The main tunnel has been driven 1400 feet. When the gravel production starts the company also plans to start development on two known quartz ledges of good values in the mine.

EMPIRE-STAR MINES

The Empire-Star Mines, Ltd., continues operations at full milling capacity, operating at each of its major units, the Empire, Pennsylvania and North Star. This company is soon to resume active mining at the Murchie mine, near Nevada City, after about three months of curtailment for shaft and plant reconstruction.

DELLEA SUNRISE MINE

Our correspondent was pleased to meet Martin Dellea last week. We were glad to find that the Dellea Sunrise mine is yielding good pay gravel at the present time. He has driven a 500 foot tunnel into the mountain and struck an old river channel.

There is plenty of water now for washing the gravel, but a dam has been built to store water for later on in the season. There are 80 acres of patented land in this property.

BLACK BEAR CONSOLIDATED

The Black Bear Consolidated mine at Alleghany has let a contract to extend the tunnel on its Gold Streak claim 80 feet from its present face, to a point where it is thought two vein that show on the surface, join. The tunnel is being run on one vein and it is possible that the company will strike one of those enrichments that the district is so noted for.

BROKEN HILLS MINING CORP.

The Broken Hills Mining Corporation of Battle Mountain, Nevada, has entered the Nevada county field by acquiring the Paine Bros. claims on the South Yuba River. The Nevada group, under the name of the Paymaster Mining company, plans an extensive development and large low-grade milling proposition. Large porphyry dikes on the Paine claims, carrying gold in commercial quantities, are to be worked under the plans of the new operators.

WINTER CLAIMS TOLL OF CARP AND SUCKERS

A million carp and suckers died in Sierra valley as a toll of the recent severe winter, according to F. F .Johnson, game commissioner.

The fish, frozen or suffocated when the streams turned to ice were piled high about the Feather river bridge on the Calpine road and in other places, Johnson said.

In many instances where the ice cracked the dead fish were forced through to the surface.

There gathered scores of fish ducks and crows, called by the opportunity for feasts.

Johnson believed the wholesale destruction of the scavenger fish will make conditions better for trout.

Carp, he pointed out, eat anything, including small fish, and are believed responsible for disappearance of rout in many sections.

He said that old timers recall when they could catch trout in any waters of Sierra valley, but now red suckers and carp control the streams

In the sloughs and in the running streams, almost countless dead fish have been noticed during recent days, the game official said.

He believed that the fish were trapped in shallow waters by early freezes and either were imbedded in the ice or were suffocated.

No evidence of destruction of game fish was seen by the official who said that the trout presumably had sought deeper waters when the freezes came, while the more sluggish fish were trapped.

With the breaking up of the hard winter, waters of the district were clogged with dead fish.—Portola Reporter.

HISTORIC YUBA RIVER CANYON FASCINATING

The historic San Juan Ridge in the heart of the Yuba River Canyon country can be reached by several roads. One of the most fascinating of these is the old stage road by way of Edward's Crossing. Since the 50's this road has been the route traveled by stages. First the old Concord thorough-braced wagons with their four, six and eight horse teams and today the automobile stages that still carry mail, passengers, and freight. Leaving Nevada City the road swings up the grade toward Sugar Loaf mountain. At the top the left hand road goes to Lake Vera, where Mills College, Oakland, Berkeley, Piedmont and Sacramento Camp Fire Girls all have their summer camps. We, however, turn to the right and about 8 miles along enter the canyon of the south fork of the Yuba river. The switch back descent to Edward's bridge at the bottom of the canyon is vibrant with romantic interest. The rocky walls are covered in part with a heavy growth of moss and half way down a large bald rock has a white triangular spot fringed with black. The white designates that on this spot a stage robbery occurred and the black signifies that some one was killed during the hold up.

The ascent out of the canyon on the opposite side gives some beautiful views of the twisting river at the bottom of the gorge. About three miles after Lake City is passed we reach North Bloomfield, which at one time with its surrounding settlements of Derbec, Relief Hill and Malakoff boasted a population of about two thousand. Today but a scattered few of the old houses are occupied. The post office is located in the McKillan and Mobley store. This establishment has been going since 1852 when the building was constructed and the business was operated as a general merchandise store with, of course, a fully equipped wine cellar in connection.

After the town has been looked over and perhaps a few side trips have been taken one turns back to stop at the old Malakoff mine office. From various points along the road astonishing views of the tremendous canyon like excavations may be obtained, the vivid coloring and the pinacled walls present a picture of rare beauty. The old office buildings still stand, where the gold used to be poured into bars for transportation to the mint. The largest ever to leave there weighed ovre 512 pounds and its value exceeded $114,000.00. Try to imagine a single bar of solid gold weighing more than a quarter of a ton! there are two models of this famous bar, one of which may be seen in the Ferry Building at San Francisco and the other in the court house at Nevada City. When the gold was shipped out on the stage it was always accompanied by guards carrying sawed off shot guns. The owner of the Bloomfield store, Judge Walter Mobley, who is now justice of the peace in Nevada City, treasures the one he carried for many years. It is a sawed off L. C. Smith 10 gauge double barrel cannon and reposes today in the corner of his office back of the stove.

We retrace as far as Lake City where we take the right hand road to North Columbia which used to be called Columbia Hill. The old telephone wire, here visible, is a portion of the Ridge Telephone company line, the world's first long distance telephone. At North Columbia the old headquarters of the Eureka Lake company, another of the old million dollar corporations, still stands. Strewn around on the ground are some of the old swivels and nozzles that were used in hydraulicking. Here you will want to get out of your car to look over the old diggings. Millions have already been taken out, but the great bulk of gold still remains as they did not reach the bed rock of the ancient channel. Before they were able to construct a tunnel to provide drainage so that the bed rock might be washed clean they were stopped by the passage of the Federal Anti-Debris law.

From here to Cherokee the road passes numerous other hydraulic excavations. Just north of Cherokee is the old Badger mine, another famous producer. A short distance and our road branches toward North San Juan. Along this stretch we have the unique experience of seeing the first telephone line built across the California boundary standing side by side with the first long distance line that was ever constructed. A few moments after passing the old deserted power house the road enters North San Juan which was formerly and still is, in spite of the tremendous shrinkage of population, the metropolis of the San Juan Ridge. This will be the subject of next weeks bulletin along with the trip through French Corral back to Grass Valley.

Deer Creek Scene of Renewed Activity

.....Closed down since the end of the Great War in 1919 the Champion, Providence, Home, Merrifield and other properties are to have a new leaseon life through the enterprise of a foreign corporation

Mr. Ed. C. Jacobs general manager of the Empress Mine at Newtown has recently taken an option, granted by the Newmont Company, to purchase the entire group of mines, comprising an extended acreage North and South of Deer Creek and including such well known properties as the Champion, Providence, Home, Merrifield, Wyoming, Spanish, and many other mines which in the early days made history for Nevada City. The recorded production of the group exceeds thirty million dollars, and there are many capable engineers who were associated with the old operations who claim there is more gold left in the old mines than the operators took out.

The principal shaft at the Champion Mine is close to 3000 feet deep, and there are many other shafts between 1000 and 2000 feet. There is a tremendous extent of lateral work in the mines estimated to exceed twenty miles of underground work, joining up the various mines.

A party of surveyors will shortly be put to work to correlate the immene amount of data required for the rehabitilitation of the mines.

Mr. Jacobs obtained the option to purchase the property through E. M. Rector of this city who is in close touch with the Newmont and Empire-Star Companies.

EDITORIAL . . . . . .

No deal has been put through in many years of the importance to Nevada City and Nevada county than the sale of the Champion mine to the Newtown Company, has had. There has been many rumors in the past few years of the sale of the Champion but these were not true. The story that appears on this front page of The Nugget is, howerer, authentical and is with pleasure that we make this important announcement.

While things have been quiet in the past few months in Nevada City a bright future awaits our little community. With stamps dropping at three large properties, as it will be in the near future, Nevada City will hum with industry. The Nugget as been persistent in predicting and has been steadfast in its faith of the mining development.

Nevada City merchants should kill "old man gloom" and rejoice that while many communities have nothing but depression facing them our outlook is most promising and if today be dark and gloomy tomorrow the sun will shine.

Mr. Jacobs, who will take charge of the development of the Champion, is an engineer of remarkably wide experience. He as brought the Empress mine at Newtown into production after it had been abandoned. In a visit to the property one is impressed with the business like manner in which ore is handled and under his expert management there is no doubt but what the Champion mine will yield as much, or more, of the yellow metal as it yielded in...the years prior to 1919.

This week saw the disbandment of the camp of highway workers, which has been at Uncle Tom's Cabin north of town. Although these men were working merely for board and shelter there is no more funds to allow this work to go on and list of idle men increases.

It is a queer thing that many people do not realize that when a state spends money itmust be raised from taxes and no matter how taxes are raised it is the consumer who pays the bill. People protest on one hand at the high cost of taxation while on the other hand they are reaching out and demanding more benefits from the state.

The legislators are constantly passing bills which in themselves are beneficial, but which add to the tax burden of the people.

Most people do not agree with Congress in the defeat of the ales Tax Bill. This tax is a direct tax and seems to them more of a burden. However, nearly all persons agree that the gasoline tax is the fairest tax that is levied, and this is a direct sales tax. The people have become so used to paying this tax that they think nothing of it. The only other method to turn to in raising of taxation is by taxing the income. This hampers production and industry and increases the unemployment. The man of wealth is not going to make the effort to produce if he knows that when his income reaches a certain point the government will take 85 per cent of it away. The burden of taxation is on the common people and the only was is to cut down the cost of government.

BIG DEVELOPMENT PLANS MAPPED PLUMAS MINES

Electrification of the Jamison mine near Johnsville, with an extensive program of development, is to be started as soon as weather permits, it was announced in Portola recently by Ray L. Jefferson, superintendent.

The mine was purchased slightly more than a year ago by R. J. Jefferson of New York and Reno from Nick Srdanovich.

Ray L. Jefferson, who is president of the Plumas county chapter of the Mining Association of California, said that it is planned to install advanced modern equipment, including a ball mill with estimated 95 per cent recovery. The mill will take care of 150,000 tons of tailnigs which are declared to be rich. The mine has aproximately 200,000 tons of profitable ore blocked out.

At present eight men are employed at the property and when weather conditions permit increased activity the force will be increased to about twenty-five or thiry men, Jefferson said.

The twenty stamp mill has been overhauled and repaired and is ready for operations as soon as conditions are suitable.

Practically the entire mine system will be electrified under present plans.

In addition to the mill work, a raise on the west vein has been started and drifting is being carried on on the same vein to block out virgin ore, Jefferson said.

Results of the work at present are highly satisfactory, the superintendent stated.

Milton Feder, owner of the Formers and Mechanics' store at Gridley, Butte county, some twenty years ago, now a resident of Beverley Hills, has recently purchased an interest in the Red Ravine Placer mine on Nelson creek near Johnsville. Giovanni Bevilacqua, owner of the mine, who has known Feder for years, is responsible for his coming to Johnsville.

Feder states that operations will start just as soon as it is possible to get the necessary equipment to the property. It is anticipated that twenty-five men will be employed.

Feder has employed Rufus Buck, mining engineer, who has passed on the property. Buck was formerly in the service of the Guggenheims in Alaska as well as other parts of the world. Buck is a graduate of Stanford university in the class of Herbert Hoover, says Feder.

Recently Feder made a tour of inspection of Arizona mining properties.

Feder's opinion is that this summer will produce renewed activity to the point of an old time boom.

MRS. BRAND CELEBRATES HER 79TH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. C. J. Brand celebrated her 79th birthday quietly at her pretty home on Broad street Tuesday.

She is one of our earliest and most highly respected pioneers having come to Nevada City 58 years ago She has resided in her present home 55 years this last January.

Mrs. Brand's husband was a jeweler in Nevada City for 40 years. His store was where Mr. A. Hartung's jewelry store is now situated. After his death the store was conducted by members of his family for about 12 years longer

Mrs. Brand was the recipient of many lovely greeting cards and gifts. The Nugget wishes to join with her many friends in wishing for her many more birthdays with health and happiness.

PACIFIC BUTTE MINING CO.

The Pacific Butte Mining company recently incorporated by California interests, has anounced that it has taken over the noted Kavanaugh placers near Forest Hill, Placer county, on a lease and option basis. The corporatio nhas acquired assets of the Butte Mining company, formerly the Butte Divide, and informed stockholders that Butte Mining stock may be exchanged for shares in the Pacific Butte on an equal basis, plus one cent a share. Vigorous operation of the Kavanaugh property is planned.

BLUE LEAD MINE

The Blue Lead Mining Company of Smartsville has a crew of men working. One monitor is busily engaged washing down gravel banks, from latest reports.

THE BOSS MINE

The Boss mine near Sweetland has a crew of 12 men working on the property. Plans are to sink several hundred feet on good ore.

They have recently cut in electricity to the mine machinery. New electrically driven machines have been installed and this is to be one of the most promising mines in Nevada county, in the very near future.

The property has lain idle for a long number of years until the Bradley interests took it over about 18 months ago.

IDAHO-MARYLAND

The Idaho-Maryland at Grass Valley continues upon a notable production basis with plans maturing for additional milling facilities. The home plant and the Brunswick plant are milling to capacity. Plans for reopening the Brunwick shaft preparatory to the further development of that property are under way.

BIRCHVILLE HYDRAULIC MINE

Three men have been employed all winter on the Birchville hydraulic mine near Birchville. They have had plenty of water and satisfactory cleanups have been made, according to reports reaching us. There are about 40 acres of land in the property. A dam has been built to retain debris from the hydraulic operations.

MANY ATTEND EASTER SUNRISE SERVICES

Many motored from Nevada City to Grass Valley last Sunday morning and attended Easter sunrise services on Osborne Hill.

The largest assembly in the history of the service in this section attended last Sunday's sunrise service. On that rugged elevation, with its magnificently rugged view encompassing the whole horizon as well as the snowy path of the approaching sun, is one of the most grandly inspiring settings. A place more symbolic of the physical resurrection than Orborne Hill could not be found.

The earnest faith of these worshippers gathered at this beautiful hour of the morning, was well rewarded and many inspiring thoughts will help to make them stronger to carry on as they realize the struggle our Creator overcame while praying in His last hours.

STAVEFLUME OUT NEAR MILTON BOWMAN PORTAL

Mgr. Wm. Durbrow of the N. I. D. flew over the Milton Bowman tunnel Wednesday to view the collapse of between 50 and 100 feet of stave flume near the portal of Milton Bowman tunnel.

Upon his return he ordered supplies and equipment sent up by plane for a camp. A stave man had to be sent up from San Francisco to do the work. The collapse of this flume prevents flow of water for storage purposes.

Jack Keleher, superintendent of that division of the ditch, went to Graniteville to escort the crew of 3 or 4 men in over the snow to the new camp.

The cost of the World War was $338,000,000,000, according to Emil Ludwig, statician who recently made this estimate in a magazine article.

Few people can realize how much money that was or is. The World War cost $9,000,000 per hour during its duration and Europe in four years spent the savings of a century. The cost of the World War was equivalent to the expenditure of $20,000 every hour since the birth of Christ.

The same authority estimates that the total loss of life during the World War was 10,000,000 men. Such a large body of human beings cannot be imagined, except in the aggregate. Mr. Ludwig points out, however, that if the dead were marching past a given point in ranks ten abreast from sun-up to sundown it would take forty-six days for the parade of the dead to pass.

And yet the nations of the world have not yet been able to coporate sufficiently to make war impossible.

MINING NEWS OF INTEREST

Mr. Joyce, mining man of Texas, was a Nevada City visitor this week. He has been down in Mexico looking over properties within the last few days. Mr. Joyce was impressed with our beautiful country and great mining possibilities. In the country he has just come from one can only see straggly little shrubs here and there over the landscape. For that same reason it is also easy to trace out precious mineral bearing ledges.

Within the last few days Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Marsh have filed on two claims of placer and quartz in the Rough and Ready mining district. The ground is three and a half miles west of Grass Valley. They were in The Nugget office Tuesday displaying some interesting looking specimens from the property. The ground is mostly placer, and they plan to develop the claims as their finances permit them to.

GOLD DISTRIBUTION IS CAUSING TROUBLE TODAY

By THOMAS L. STOKES

The world is suffering from maldistribution of gold today rather than a shortage of the metal, some governmental experts believe.

They contend that there is sufficient gold in the world for all legitimate commercial purposes, but that the corner on gold held by the United States and France makes it appear that gold mines are failing to produce enough to meet present day demands.

France and the United States hold about 65 percent of the world's monetary gold supply, or approximately $7,500,000,000.

Economic measures to preserve gold are expected to be adopted should the present annual production of about 20,000,000 fine ounces decrease.

Surveys taken bythe department of commerce show that the rich Rand mines of South Africa will produce decreased amounts of gold after 1935.

These mines, discovered in 1885, are the world's largest producers.

Increased depth will hinder future activities. In 1925 the maximum depth vertically below the surface was 6,300 feet. By June, 1930, the Village Deep mine had reached a working depth of 7,640 feet.

Studies by mining engineers show that great depth increases the difficulty of hoisting ore and that rock pressure and temperature are other important factors.

Temperature can be aided thru air conditioning. This operation is, however, expensive and the ore mined must contain considerable amounts of gold to make the installation of air conditioning profitable.

United States production has decreased since 1915 when the record production of 4,823,672 ounces was made.

The 1931 U. S. production slightly surpassed the 1930 total due to increased activities in California and South Dakota.

During 1931 the United States production of gold amounted to 2,365,881 fine ounces as compared with 2,187,027 ounces in 1930.

The world production in 1930 was 20,460,168 fine ounces as against the 1929 output of 20,191,478.

Heavy world production has taken place in the last 30 years. It was not until 1897 that over 10,000,000 fine ounces was produced in a single year. By 1907 the annual world output reached the 20,000,000 ounce mark for the first time. Since 1915 the annual production has never fallen below 15,000,000 ounces.

In 1929, 71.4 percent of the gold mined was produced by the British Emprie. The United States was second, producing 10.8 percent and was followed by Russia with 5 percent; Mexico, 3.8 percent; Japan, 2.8 percent and South America, 2.5.

Canada stepped up her gold production from 772,188 ounces in 1914 to 1,191,920 ounces in 1929 and in 1931 passed the United States as the second largest world producing nation. South Africa still maintains first place.

HONEY LAKE GOLD MINE CONTACTS WITH VEIN IN LOWER LEVELS

A new strike at the Honey Lake gold mine recently has convinced the owners that the value of the property is now established beyond all doubt.

Sonberg, the manager, has driven three tunnels at different levels to tap the vein discovered at the surface. The last tunnel driven to a depth of 600 feet below the second, failed to discover the vein where a survey showed that it should be, and considerable uneasiness was experienced by stockholders over the delay.

Two drifts and prospecting with a diamond drill failed to locate the missing vein and it became evident that its location had shifted. The management started to raise to the level of the second tunnel to contact the ore body. At 300 feet the upper vein was encountered at the proper place according to the slope of the upper workings.

Shortly after the contact was made, a large transverse ore body was cut carrying low values. After passing through, the true vein was picked up and followed for a distance of 200 feet, where it pinched down to a width of 18 inches, carrying a streamer of sulphides that assayed $495 to the ton.

The seam opened out to a wider vein and assays across the face carries values from $22 to $60.

It is considered now that a sufficient quantity of ore assaying high values has been uncovered to justify the establishment of a mill. It only remains to make necessary connections between the present discovered and the lower tunnel to open the way for actual operations.

It is expected that the successful development of the Honey Lake mine will mean much activity in other prospects along the Diamond range.

SHORT SKETCH OF ANOTHER LOCAL PIONEER

Mr. Congdon, one of our early pioneers, was born at that much written of little town of Timbuctoo, near Smartsville. His parents crossed the plains in 1852. The father came overland first in '49 and then returned and made up a company in Connecticut. When the caravan came thru Missouri they bought outfits and 300 head of cattle to bring to the new country. It was late when they reached the mountains, so they camped over winter at Truckee Meadows, at a government post, which is now Reno. In the spring they came down thru Downieville to Timbuctoo. They butchered a number of the cattle and sold them to the miners.

On their way over the mountains they were not bothered by the Indians, as his father had laid in a large supply of cheap tobacco and whenever they met Indians they treated them. They had their good will and when about 50 head of cattle strayed from the herd he Indians drove them back to them again.

Mr. Congdon's oldest brother, who is now 82 year old, was born in Connecticut, the rest of the children being born at Timbuctoo.

The father followed hydraulic mining until about 60 years ago when he went to farming on the ranch that is now the family home near Timbuctoo. Mr. Congdon's father is now buried in the above mentioned town's cemetery.

In the hydraulic mining days out 2000 people lived in this little mining town.A s we understand now there is only an old bachelor living there.

In an area of about three miles were the following four towns. Smartsville which voted about 500 men; Sucker Flat, about 200 voters; Timbuctoo about 2000 people and Mooney Flat, about 200 people.

It is claimed that cleanups from one monitor was $35,000 a month. There were two or three monitors in the district.

Mr. Congdon is now living in Selby Flat. His sister, Mrs. Coll re- sides at Smartsville.

SIGNS OF BETTER TIMES

One of the leading power companies of California has just announced its intention of spending 10 million dollars in construction work during 1932.

February showed a decided improvement in department store and similar retail sales in California.

February foreign trade for the entire nation gained 5 million dollars over the preceding month —the first rise in exports since 1916. (California's foreign trade during 1931 exceeded 230 million dollars.)

Orange prices in eastern markets were higher in February 1932 than in January or February 1931.

SIMPLICITY

I would not be sophisticated,
Blase and hard, and worldly wise.
I'd rather feel a bit elated
At simple things that meet my eyes.
I would not be with Life so sated—
That it, for me, held no surprise!

Despite the things that might distress me,
I'd see in Life each touch of grace.
I'd see all things that are, that bless me—
Each loyal friend, each smiling face.
And I would have it ALL impress me,
And think no day was commonplace!

RECONSTRUCTION PLAN OF TAHOE-UKIAH HIGHWAY

Reconstruction of the Tahoe-Ukiah highway 21.3 mile unit from Marysville to the Nevada county line to connect with construction now being completed from the county line east to Pet Hill is proposed in the 10 year building program of the state, Chief Highway Engineer C. H Purcell has informed the Sacramento State Chamber of Commerce.

The entire 10 year program was presented at the meeting of the highway committee of the valley division of the state chamber organization at Sacramento Friday.

The Tahoe-Ukiah highway improvements will bring this unit to state highway standards with a minimum of 20 feet of oil rock surfacing on 24 to 30 foot roadbed.

From Marysville to Dry Creek, 12.6 miles, grading is to be done to a width of 30 feet, bridges and culverts are to be installed and a 20-foot oiled rock surface is to be laid. Three bridges are to be built over Dry Creek. Some changes in alignment are expected.

From Dry Creek to Nevada county line, 8.7 miles, grading is to be done 24 feet wide, culverts are to be constructed and a 20-foot oiled rock surface is to be laid.

These improvements will not complete the reconstruction of the entire Tahoe-Clear Lake-Ukiah group, but they will remove many of the slowspeed stretches. In the preliminary announcement no mention was made of the heaviest construction of the entire unit, that 10 mile stretch from Steephollow summit to Yuba Overpass on Route 40. However, due to the frequent and constant statements from Governor James Rolph and state officers that the appropriation would be included in the 1933-34 budget, little concern is felt that the final unit is assured.

Just as important are the improvements to be made on the Yuba Pass highway between Freeman's Crossing and the Indian Valley bridge.

The stretch of 11.1 miles is included in the 10 year program. The road is to be regraded 24 feet wide with an oil rock surface 20 feet wide Permanent culverts and small structures will be placed.

WHY DEPRESSION HURTS

Mike Clark of Holler Junction, Tennessee, knows exactly why the depression hit him so hard. He reeently analyzed his own case and, feeling that there were many others in the same boat, wrote his diagnosis to his local newspaper. His letter contained so much homely philosophy that it has been reprinted from coast to coast. Among other things, Mike wrote:

"I bought a car instead of a farm and is worn out, but the farm I figgered on is still O. K. I invested in a radio instead of a cow a,nd the radio gives static instead of milk. I am feeding five hounds instead of five pigs. I had our piano tuned instead of having the well cleaned out.. I spent all my cash in 1929 and traded my future wages for 1930 installments, so hard times caught me in bad shape.

"If I had spent my last $100 for flour and meat instead of gas and oil I would have been O. K. I built a nice garage instead of covering my barn and I loafed in the mountains a week or two instead of fixing up the pasture so my cow wouldn't get out. But now she's dry and mortgaged to boot for two blankets my wife bought from an agent instead of paying the preacher. I'm on a cash basis now, but I ain't got no cash. I saved up $4 for a rainy day, but it turned dry and I spent the $4 for inner tubes.

"I am worried plum to the bone, and my wife's folks are comin" over next Tuesday to spend two weeks."

Did Mike get any constructive ideas out of his analysis? He did. He's firmly convinced that "we had otter change our ways of living and so forth."

Time is one of the most precious things on earth, yet most people spend it lavishly.

MINE DEALS REPORTED FROM TRINITY COUNTY

Two mining deals of importance were consummated within the last few days, with transfers being made.

Timothy L. Daily, representing eastern capitalists, has purchased from C. L. Brown his option on the holdings on Canyon creek, near Dedrick, owned by Dannenbrink, Grotefend and Clarke. George H. Bergin of Weaverville is manager for the new operator. Starting with a few men Bergin has begun activities and will in the near future employ additional help as the work progresses until within a few weeks a large crew will be engaged.

Another transfer of interest is that of the properties owned by Dr. D. B. Fields. The mines are located in the vicinity of Douglas City and Indian creek. A. C O'Neel of Portland secured the option and will begin operations at once.

They have airbrakes for the railroads and the street cars, so why not devise one for congress?

CARTERS CELEBRATE WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Carter celebrated their wedding anniversary last Saturday at their cozy little home on Nevada street.

They were married at Lake City and spent several years there and at Bloomfield.

To this union five children were born, four of whom are living. They are, Sheriff George R. Carter, and Lawrence Carter, of Nevada City; William Carter of Downieville, and Mrs. Orlanda Morrison of Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter are both of pioneer parentage and have lived their entire lives in Nevada County

The active lives of Mr. and Mrs. Carter almost belie their fifty years of married life.

Members of the family were present at the happy celebration held in their home in honor of the event. Visits and phone calls from many friends assisted in making the day a memorable one.

Friends from all over the country joined in extending best wishes on this happy event in the lives of these two highly respected residents.

Mrs. Frank Ghidotti has returned after being in Sacramento the past three weeks conducting a sale of the Emigh Winchell hardware stock which the Alpha Stores Inc., recently purchased.

You can hardly sall a man a human dynamo just because he has everything charged.

SISKIYOU COUNTY 44TH IN GOLD PRODUCTION

B. HOMER L. ROBERTS

Siskiyou county, with a total mineral production of $235,401 ranked 44th among the 58 counties of California last year, according to a report compiled for Governor Rolph by State Mineralogist Walter W. Bradley.

Fifty-seven of the 58 counties in the state contirbuted to the total mineral production of $365,604,695, Bradley stated, the only non-producer being Sutter county. There were 51 different mineral substances—nearly as many as the state has counties—exclusive of precious gems.

Features of the mining report were:

A decline in the amount and value of petroleum production, with decreases in the amount and values of cement, natural gas, copper, miscellaneous stone, salt, brick and hollow building tile, and pottery clay.

Increases in gold, mineral water, borax, potash, quicksilver, lime and lead.

MINING NEWS OF CALAVERAS COUNTY

The Black Hawk mine near Soulsbyville, idle for a quarter of a century, has been acquired by the Organized Mining company, a recentiy formed California corporation headed by Col. C. H. Silliman of Los Angeles, from A. P. Irish, a mining man of that city, and its rehabilitation launched under the supervision of the latter as manager. Electric power has been installed and a 25-horsepower hoist is being placed on the 200-foot vertical two-compartment shaft. Manager Irish states that the property will be immediately equipped with a 50-ton daily capacity ball mill for the reduction of a large tonnage of ore made available on the 100 and 100 foot levels by development work performed at his own expense prior to the closedown in 1907. The ore body, as exposed on the levels named, varies in width from seven inches to three feet, has a proved length of more than 200 feet and averages $35 a ton in gold, Mr. Irish asserts.

The Elmm Mining company is making a 300 ton mill test run at the McCormick mine on the Tuolumne river, near Jacksonville, being operated under lease and bond. The ore being reduced was extracted from one of the shoots exposed by the lower or No. 2 tunnel. From the upper or No. 1 tunnel a raise is being run to catch the upward extension of a high-grade orebody revealed about two months ago.

Two electric pumps have been installed in the 800 foot incline shaft on the Belleview mine, about eight miles east of Sonora, and are being operated three shifts daily in dewatering the workings, under a 25 year lease held by Fred N. Baylies of Los Angels and associates. Thus far the water has been lowered to the 500 foot point under the direction of Roy S. Clements, manager.

GRIDLEY SUMS UP THE GOLD SITUATION

Richard L. Gridley, financial writer for the United Press, sums up the gold situation in the following manner: "The age-old greed for gold has cropped up anew. The days of the Klondike are being revived. Mines are being drilled deeper; new discoveries are being made and old mins are being worked. The reason is simple. In times of depression there is no better investment than gold. Its value gradually increases in direct proportion to the fall in prices of various commodities. In other words, a quantity perhaps 35 to 40 per cent more goods it could have several years ago.

"Beacuse of its importance as a money basis in major countries of the world, the gold question has excited much comment in banking quarters. Currency of several countries has been impaired by dwindling gold reserves.

"One school of though claims that it there was enough gold in the world to finance the greatest stock market boom in history, there certainly is enough to finance a legitimate business now with credit values deflated as much as 75 per cent. On the other hand, equally responsible economists point to prospects of a gradual decline in production of the metal and say if the supply of metal is only sufficient now it will not be in the future, provided business continues to increase in scope.

"Many countries now are suffering from a lack of gold, which they could use for a base to expand their credit facilities. This country and France have more than enough for their current neds about 60 pr cent of th world's metal now being in the vaults of the Bank of France and the Federal Reserve system. These gains appear to be at the center of the present controversy. Deeper causes than mere greed account for the large accumulation. The last three years have seen gains in gold holdings by United States, France, Belgium, Sweden and Switzerland, and losses by the South American countries, Japan and Australia. The losses of the latter group appear to be because of increase in foreign indebtedness, larger importations and price changes.

"Production of the metal ,since the discovery of America, has amounted to 1,042,800,000 ounces of which more than half has been produced during the 20th century. Output in 1882 amounted to slightly under 5,000,000 ounces. Since then production steadily increased until 1915, when it amounted to 19,718,154 ounces. After dipping to 15,467,223 ounces in 1922, output increased nearly 20 per cent to 20,191,478 ounces in 1930. Production for 1931 was in excess of the 1930 figures."

ACROSS THE RIVER THE OLD GRIDGE LIES

(Lines to Bidwell Bar Bridge)

By S. Smily Kamp.

Across the river the old bridge lies,
Across the River of Nevermore;
The clasp of its hands is toward the skies,
But its feet are on the hither shore.

It has heard the joy of a thousand cheers,
It has heard the grief of a thousand sighs;
It has echoed the feet of the weary years,
Till they crossed the Bridge where Heaven lies.

It has carried the tread of a thousand feet,
The young, the old, the sad, the gay;
It has carried them on when life was sweet
And carried them back pathetic clay.

It has carried the miner rich with gold,
That has given comfort to many a heart;
It has carried the Indian poor and cold,
And they who barter in life's rough mart.

It has felt the bitter, burning tears,
Of broken vows and breaking hearts;
It has felt the weight of a thousand fears,
When rage runs wild and hope departs.

It has rung to a murderer's frantic tread,
It has sobbed the sound of his faltering feet;
The old bridge pillowed his guilty head,
And felt his heart as it ceased to beat.

And still it carries the restless throngs,
And will carry them on from shore to shore;
When you and all are gone,
Across the River or Nevermore.

Above the water the old bridge swings,
On its grand old cables staunch and strong;
Below, the river ever sings
The sweet refrain of its golden song.

BULLION SHIPPED REGULARLY FROM THE FELECIANA MINE

O. Olson of the Feleciana mine was in Mariposa recently. Olson says that a small force is operating at the mine and that some excellent ore has been taken out and milled. Due to the heavy storm very active operations have been prevented.

For the past several months regular shipments of gold bullion has been made to the mint.

You and I

by CHARLES S. KINNISON

IN FAIREST HUE

She's not an artist—goodness, no!—
This little girl of mine.
No sketch of hers will ever show
One touch of genius fine.
But still she likes to show to me
Each little thing she draws—
And as her handiwork I see,
I point to her no flaws.

But best of all, Miss Goldie Locks,
(Her hair shows golden glints),
Delights to use the little box
That's filled with colored tints!
She likes to take the magazines
We've read and thrown away,
And color them with reds and greens,
And all the colors gay.

She never paints with somber hues—
The grays, the browns and such.
But to the frocks, the hats, the shoes,
She gives the brilliant touch!
And as she grows to older age,
As little folks must do,
I pray she'll paint each single page
Of life, in fairest hue!

FRENCH GULCH MINES ARE TO BE WORKED

French Gulch and its nearby mines, in Shasta county are filled with the romance of the past.

Upon leaving the city of Redding it is only a drive of of twenty miles to French Gulch over an excellent highway. Among the many famous mines which can be visited easily in a day, and of which French Gulch is the hub, are the Gladstone, Washington, Niagara, Milkmaid, Sybil, Summit, Highland and the Philadelphia. The roads leading to any of these mines are good county roads and easily traversed.

One of the famous landmarks of the section is the Washington stamp mill, reputedly the second oldest stamp mill in the state. It is three miles from French Gulch and is located in the gulch from which the town gets its name. The building which houses this mill has been rebuilt twice, but is now in a near state of ruin. However, the mill itself is still in working order and is used at different times by small miners. This mill has pounded out more than $10,000,000 for its many operators.

The Gladstone mine, the largest in the French Gulch mining district and one of the mainstays of the town, closed down during the World War due to the high cost of labor and production. Several attempts have been made in the past to reopen it, but never accomplished on a large scale.

Plans are being formulated by a group of mining and financial men to reopen this famous producer, which at once time employed well over 300 men and has produced over $12,000,000. On the property is a well-equipped thirty-stamp mill and equipment which was modern at the time the mine was forced to close.

On this mine's property were erected, just a short while before closing, two of the most beautiful homes in this section. One housed the president and the other the general manager of the Hazel Gold Mining Company, the then operators, and still owners. The cost of these two mansions was close to $50,000. Today, although not occupied for sixteen years, they are in the best of shape.

At one time French Gulch had three schools, three general merchandise stores, one of which is still running (it being made of cement and rock with iron doors an inch thick and fifteen feet high. The walls three feet thick), two churches, two hotels, of which one is still open, a town hall and seven saloons.

Today the population is about 175 residents, all of whom take special care of their homes and yards, making it one of the most beautiful mining towns in the state for its size. The streets are paved and the city has a modern water system.

Two Places Raided—

The Social Club in Bank Alley, reputed to be Grass Valley's most elaborate speak easy, was raided last Thursday afternoon. Federal officers Bates and Wilson of Sacramento conducted the raid, accompained by Sheriff Geo. R. Carter of Nevada county. Entrance was gained thru a rear door, which was unlocked. Ralph Ackerly, who was found in charge, as bartender, was arrested for possession and taken before justice of the peace, where he entered a pla of guilty and was fined $150, which he paid.

The same officers also raided the A. Cartoscelli resort in Nevada City and found intoxicating liquor. Cartoscelli was taken before Judge W. L Mobley where he pleaded guilty and was fined $150.

Mr. Ackerman a former newspaper man, was in Nevada City Tuesday and a caller at The Nugget office. He is opposing the Sharkey Oil bill to be voted on on April 3rd. He also lobbyed for several important mining issues in the last session of the legislature without recompense. Mr. Ackerman is a friend of the mining districts.
